Advisory Action

Applicant's amendment will be entered because it reduces the number of issues on appeal. Claims stand rejected on the prior arts as indicated in the final action of 9/20/06.

Arguments are not persuasive. The argument that the flow process in Noca is not pressurized is not commensurate in scope with the claims because claims do not have any recitation pertaining to a pressurizing.

Argument that Noca does not teach a cover as claimed is also not persuasive.

The cited paragraph of Noca, column 10 lines 47-67 teaches a cover to the "array sieve" of figure 5. The reference teaches that "... the cap layer (66) makes intimate contact with the array sieve (54), while maintaining a uniform separation from the existing substrate (42)." Thus, the reference teaches an intimate contact between the nano fibers of array (54), if not "compress" them, and the cover (66). The reference also teaches:

Such a cap layer 66 could be formed by any conventional MEMS process, such as growth or deposition over a sacrificial layer (not shown) deposited to encapsulate the self-assembled nano-array sieve 54 wherein the sacrificial layer is subsequently removed to expose the self-assembled nano-array sieve 54 itself.

It is very clear from this teaching that the nano-array sieve (54) is first encapsulated with a sacrificial material, then the cover layer is deposited, and then the sacrificial material is removed to expose the nano-array (54). Thus the cover is formed over the nanoarray (54), with intimate contact with the nano-array, so that there is no "gap" between the nanoarray and the cover.
